4. ABOUT KALABURAGI AND KALYANA KARNATAKA REGION

Central University of Karnataka is situated in the Kalaburagi district in Kalyana Karnataka Region. The region has the ancestral history of 1.2 million years, Isampur being the earliest stone tool making industry during the Palaeolithic period (Stone Age). There has been a consistent occupation (during Palaeolithic, Mesolithic, Neolithic and Iron Age) of the region across the rivers of Bhima, Krishna and Tungabhadra for hunter-gatherers and pastoralists & early agricultural communities until recently 2000 years ago. Maski, Watgal, Budihal, Sangankallu-Kupgal, Piklihal, Hirebenekal etc., are few archaeologically well-studied sites. We find an exciting concentration of Ashoka rock edict sites, such as Sannati, Maski, Gavimath, Udegolam, Nittur and Brahmagiri, indicating the Mauryas in South India and the spread of 'Dhamma' during the 3rd century BCE. Reminiscence of Stupas in Sannati and Kanaganahalli on the bank of river Bhima, suggests the region flourished as prominent Buddhist centres contemporary to Amaravati and Nagarjunakonda that were Buddhist School of Art in their own sense. This has made the Kalyana Karnataka Region a significant centre of cultural and heritage research for 200 years and has attracted eminent foreign scientists from across Eurasia and America.

The formation of rolling plains of black cotton soil (alluvium) for cotton and toor dal (Pigeon Pea/ Cajanus cajan) cultivation, quartz reefs for gold mining and chalcopyrite for copper, manganese for Iron has made chief economic resources of the region. Major political kingdoms of South India, such as Chalukays, Rashtrakuta, Vijayanagara and Bahmani, made their capital in this region. This made a composition of vibrant multilingual and multicultural society throughout the historical period. One can spot recurrent occurrences of forts and hillforts across the region, apart from the fortified capital cities. The region has given birth to acclaimed academicians, literary personalities, religious leaders and philosophers. It houses several philosophical and educational centres, epistemological works, social movements, great dynasties, incredible folk traditions in verbal and non-verbal art forms and industries. The history of this region is enriched in the literature. Many Vachanakaras, Kirtanakaras and Tatvapadakaras hail from this region. Works like Allama's vachanas started an epistemological tradition in the region. There are also many religious and philosophical centres like Sannati, Kanaganahalli, Koppala, Manyakheta (Capital of Rashtrakuta kingdom), Kalyana (Capital of Chalukya kingdom), Bidar, Savalagi, Tintini, Mudgal in the region. Great folk literature, both in verbal and non-verbal ways, are part of regional heritage. The ancient sculptures at Hampi, Shiravala, Evuru, Kalagi, Bidar, Kalyana, Kalaburagi, Itagi etc are worth mentioning. NagaviGhatika in Chittapur taluk of Kalaburagi district was the most sought after the center of higher learning, attracting students and scholars from different corners of India/abroad into the medieval period.

PROSPECTUS 2022-2023

MahaVeeracharya (815 A.D.-878 A.D.), an ancient mathematician in the court of Rashtrakuta emperor Amoghavarsha who wrote GanitasaraSangraha and Sri Jayateertha (1365 A.D. -1388 A.D.), a Vedantic scholar also known by the epithet Tikacharya, belonged to Malkhed on the bank of river Kagina of the region. Veeracharya's marvellous mathematical treatise 'Ganitasara Sangraha' in Sanskrit verse is a landmark work found relevant even today in several aspects of mathematics. 'Kavirajamarga', the first extant Kannada literary work, was produced by Srivijaya around 850 AD during the period of Amoghavarsha alias Nrupatunga of the Rashtrakutas. The book about the theory of literature, particularly poetry, has played a vital role in according classical language status to Kannada. Vijnaneshwara, a celebrated jurisprudentia list, in the court of Vikramaditya- VI, the Kalyani Chalukya emperor, wrote the magnum opus 'Mitakshara', commentary to the Yajnavalkya Smriti, in the 11th century. Hailing from Martur near Kalaburagi, Vijnaneshwara's Mitakshara became the cornerstone of the Indian legal system. It remained the sole justice system throughout India except for Bengal and Assam from the 12th century till India attained independence.

Khwaja Banda Nawaj (1321-1422), a Sufi saint, settled in Gulbarga on the invitation of Bahman king Feroz Shah, was a pioneer in Urdu literature with his work 'Me Rajul Ashikhain'. His Dargah at Kalaburagi has become an important pilgrim centre for Hindu-Muslims all over India and even abroad.

Kalaburagi is one of the three districts transferred from Hyderabad State to Karnataka state at the time of reorganization of the states in 1956. Now among the 31 districts of Karnataka, it is located in the North-Eastern part of state and lies between North latitude 17010" and 17045" and between east longitude 76010" and 77045". The District is the biggest in the state, covering 8.49% of the area and 5.9 % of the state's population. Kadaganchi is 7.5 kilometres from CITY LIMITS OF Kalaburagi on SH10 highway with frequent KSRTC bus services
